

SJMH CAO Kevin Stalnaker, and SJMH Chief Nursing Officer Carole Norton present Kara Hoover, RN, her DAISY Award For Extraordinary Nurses.

Extraordinary Acute Care Nurse Recognized at Mon Health

Kara Hoover, RN, of Mon Health Stonewall Jackson Memorial Hospital and Braxton native, was recently honored with The DAISY Award@For Extraordinary Nurses. Awarded to nurses biannually at Mon Health Stonewall Jackson Memorial Hospital, The DAISY Award is part of the DAISY Foundation's programs to recognize the super-human efforts nurses perform every day.

The nomination submitted from one of Kara's patients read, "Kara was so caring and compassionate. She was on top of changing my IV meds and I didn't have to ring for her. She saw I was in so much pain and she offered me a heat pad. She was on the go non-stop. I left my door open, and she was up and down the hallway every little bit. I could not ask for better people to take care of me; she went above what I feel they needed to make sure I was comfortable. I can't thank them enough! A big, big thank you, Kara."

The not-for-profit DAISY Foundation is based in Glen Ellen, CA, and was established by family members in memory of J. Patrick Barnes. Patrick died at the age of 33 in late 1999 from complications of Idiopathic Thrombocytopenic Purpura (ITP), a little known but not uncommon auto-immune disease. The care Patrick and his family received from nurses while he was ill inspired this unique means of thanking nurses for making a profound difference in the lives of their patients and patient families.

"When Patrick was critically ill, our family experienced first-hand the remarkable skill and care nurses provide patients every day and night," said Bonnie Barnes, FAAN, CEO and Co-Founder of The DAISY Foundation. "Yet these unsung heroes are seldom recognized for the super-human work they do. The kind of work the nurses at Mon Health Stonewall Jackson Memorial Hospital are called on to do every day epitomizes the purpose of The DAISY Award."

Kara is a Registered Nurse in the Acute Care Department and has worked for Mon Health Stonewall Jackson Memorial Hospital since January 2022.

"I really enjoy working here. I love the closeness of employees with each other, and the helpfulness of the entire staff," said

Kara. "I love nursing and am excited to see where any journey here takes me. Everyone is so kind."

"We are delighted to honor Kara with the Daisy Award. She has shown her dedication to her patients and the nursing profession," said Bertha Webb, MSN, RN, CMSRN, Director of Acute Care. "Her nominator noted that Kara went above and beyond her nursing duties in helping the patient. That is a real sign of her excellent nursing skills and compassion."

Kara is a Braxton County native and lives there with her son, Caleb. She obtained her nursing degree from Fairmont State University.

Nurses can be nominated by anyone who has been affected by their care - patients, family members, other nurses, physicians, other clinicians, and staff - anyone who has experienced or observed extraordinary, compassionate care being provided by a nurse. Say thank you to a nurse and nominate the for the DAISY Award by visiting MonHealth.com/DAISY. To learn more about the DAISY Award@For Extraordinary Nurses, visit <https://DAISYFoundation.org>.

Braxton to Receive Portion of $3.6 Million in PILT Payments

U.S. Senators Joe Manchin, Chairman of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee, and Shelley Moore Capito last week announced $3,617,997 from the U.S. Department of Interior's Payment in Lieu of Taxes (PILT) program to 36 West Virginia counties including Braxton. These payments are made annually to counties with non-taxable Federal land within their borders to offset the lost property tax revenue. Braxton County will receive $77,108.

"For more than 40 years, PILT payments have helped ensure local governments across the Mountain State have the resources they need to help offset budget shortfalls caused by their inability to collect taxes on Federal lands. These critical payments provide our communities with crucial support for essential services, such as law enforcement, education, firefighting, road maintenance and public health. I am pleased to announce this significant funding, and I look forward to seeing the positive impacts of this investment. As Chairman of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee and a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, I will always fight for vital

The discovery led to the arrest of the driver, identified as Heather Dawn Bender, 40, of Sutton and Megan

Burnsville Resale Shop Looking for Volunteers

West Virginia Caring is looking for volunteers to assist with essential functions for the non-profit's Resale Shop's operation in Burnsville. The local shop offers a variety of gently used or new donated items including clothing, shoes, home goods, toys, furniture, video and books. And it is a great place to find those unique items that are not available at other stores.

The shop is conveniently located at 77 Mike & Ike's Plaza in Burnsville, right off I 79 at exit 79 and next door to the WV Caring's local Braxton Calhoun and Gilmer counties' office. It is open six days a week, Monday through Saturday with volunteer availability for any of those days. Local youth and civic organizations are also welcomed to volunteer as groups to assist the mission of WV Caring.

Volunteers will assist with sorting, pricing, and displaying donated items for the store. They will work with other volunteers in a fun working environment. Whether it's for an hour or a few days a week, it would be the volunteer's choice how they spend their time, as the organization is flexible to accommodate each volunteer's schedule.

The Resale Store will be holding a 'Christmas in July' event Saturday, July 23rd from 9am-2pm to further share the mission of WAA. The day will be filled with fun events, refreshments, sales, and a visit from Summer Santa.

WV Caring, offers hospice and counseling, is a community based non-profit organization that operates the Resale Shop program to extend its outreach and education of hospice in a way that the community can give back and support its mission. Its concept and purpose are to provide funding for WV Caring's terminally ill patients and families, while offering the community good value and a pleasant shopping experience. All proceeds from the Resale Shops are used to fund patient support regardless of financial status.

Legislative Update

By Delegate Brent Boggs

Over the years, the executive branch made available to the Finance committees their long-term fiscal projections which provided valuable insights into what direction the state budget revenue collections may be trending in the next several years. Otherwise known as the 6-Year Plan, this was a mandatory starting point for any discussions for budget cuts, increases in spending, and how we can responsibly give back to the taxpayers. Unfortunately, this valuable planning document is no longer provided to legislators for the past few years. Without the benefit of reviewing those projections of out-year revenue and expenses, proposing permanent spending increases or tax cuts has the potential to place the state in financial jeopardy. In short, it's difficult to do your due diligence if you don't have all the facts needed to make fiscally responsible decisions.

Last week, Governor Justice announced his desire to place an aggregate ten percent income tax cut for West Virginia state taxes. As of this writing, we still do not know what "aggregate" references, nor have legislators had the opportunity to see and review the proposed bill. Since I've not seen the bill, I can only go on the assumption that a 10 percent tax cut is across the board in all income brackets. If that is indeed the case, this cut will benefit the wealthy much more than low- and middle-income workers, who make up a majority of working West Virginians and need help coping with the high cost of fuel, food, and other goods.

The proposal would have no impact on any federal taxes. I'll withhold final judgement until the bill comes before members, but here is a rough, back-of-the-envelope estimate as to what a 10% state income tax cut would do—or fail to do for WV taxpayers. According to the independent, non-profit Tax Foundation, with the proposed tax cuts, rather than seeing a 10% increase on paychecks, most West Virginians would like only to see an increase of a few dollars per pay period.

People making $10,000 a year would expect to see a tax reduction of only $40 over the course of a year. People making $25,000 would save $112.50; and those with an annual income of $40,000 would see a tax reduction of $240 per year.

People making more money, and therefore paying higher rates, would see the most savings. Those making $60,000 would save $390 a year, and people making $100,000 would see savings of $650. When you get to even higher income earners, the savings run into the thousands annually.

Several of us have previously proposed other options when similar tax reduction schemes were on the table that would put a more meaningful amount in the pockets of most working West Virginia families and retirees, such as a 3-month motor fuel tax holiday, or a direct rebate in a fixed amount to all taxpayers. These proposals would benefit everyone more reasonably, thereby giving more help to those needing a greater degree of relief.

West Virginia ended the 2022 fiscal year with a $1.3 billion state surplus, due primarily to high energy prices and low revenue estimates. Will that be the case in two years? Three years? Five years? We've seen big surpluses before, only to see the national economy or energy prices tank, leading to emergency cuts in vital services and programs. Answering those multi-year budget and revenue questions would be beneficial in determining the responsible best path forward to provide economic relief to all West Virginians.

This fall, a constitutional amendment will be on the ballot in West Virginia that has the potential to cost as much as $750 million annually, by phasing-in an exemption for equipment for large manufacturing entities, long sought by big businesses. Also included is a removal of the personal property tax on vehicles. This alone has the potential for a major blow to county budgets and school funding. This will be up to the voters to determine on a statewide basis.

One cautionary note. Next year and beyond, look for proposals in the House and Senate to give the Legislature the authority to "adjust" property tax rates. I predict this will be the way out when talks begin of how to "make counties whole" financially if the manufacturing equipment tax exemption amendment passes.

There will be much to consider during any special session the Governor calls, whether it's this month or later in the year. But make no mistake, a special session now, the November election, and next year's legislative session and budget will have a deep impact on citizens across the State. What sounds good today may well lead to major cuts to vital services down the road if budgets need to be slashed mid-year.

To conclude this week, a sad note on the passing of a local Gassaway businessman, community leader and friend, Orlando "Shorty" Rader. Shorty was instrumental in the creation of the Gassaway Area Improvement Council, dedicated to the beautification of downtown storefronts and streets, clean-up, and removal of dilapidated properties, and restoring pride to the community to attract new businesses, visitors and residents to Gassaway and central West Virginia. He battled ALS with courage and strength, and he will be greatly missed and well-remembered. Jean and I send our sincere condolences to his wife, Sherry, his kids, grandkids, and extended family.

Now that the session has concluded, please contact me at my home office at: 151 Park Street, Gassaway, WV 26624. The phone number is 304-364-8411. For those with Internet access, my legislative email address is: Brent.Boggs@WVHouse.gov

Sandra K. Campbell Firth

Sandra K. Campbell Firth Born September 23, 1946 as the eldest daughter of the late Hale Campbell and Kathlyn "Bid-die" Singleton Campbell Duckworth. She grew up in the Exchange community and graduated from Gassaway High School in 1964. She went to St. Mary's School of Nursing graduating in 1967. She joined the Army and did her basic training at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, TX. She then was deployed to Vietnam and served as a nurse to most critically wounded soldiers for 14 months. She was exposed to Agent Orange and suffered PTSD for the rest of her life. She returned to Fort Knox, KY where she finished her commitment to the Army.

As a civilian nurse she worked at the "old" United Hospital Center and at Clarksburg Veterans Hospital. While working there she saw a spiritual need for the Veterans suffering with PTSD. Having relied on the Lord all her life she went back to college to get her degree in Biblical Theology and Counseling so she could become a chaplain. A requirement to be a chaplain is one must be a pastor. So she became a Methodist pastor to four small churches in Arnettsville, WV for 12 years. She served as chaplain at Ruby Memorial Hospital and Clarksburg Veterans Hospital until her retirement about five years ago.

Sandra was married to John William Firth and they had a son, John Christopher Firth. After her husband's death, Sandra raised her son as a single mom.

Sandra went home to meet her Lord on June 14, 2022, Flag Day for the country she loved and served, at United Hospital Center. She leaves behind to mourn their loss her son John, her sister Brenda, six grandchildren (Brandon, Daniel, Shayne, Harmony, Joshua, and William), and aunt Imogene Martson and two brother-in-laws (Stanley Firth and Carl Gray), a host of cousins and many friends.

She met her life's goals: to be a nurse, to be in the Army and to serve the Lord as best she could by serving others, "Well done thy good and faithful servant, enter into your rest."

At Sandra's request, cremation has taken place. A celebration of life will be held at 7:00 pm, July 21, 2022 at Quiet Dell Methodist Church as a gospel sing, singing hymns. She loved music and singing. She wants it to be a happy service.

After passing her WV state licensing exams, she operated her own beauty salon for 30 years in Webster Springs. She was originally hired by Charlie Dodd in 1969 as beautician for Dodd & Hurt Funeral Home and continued working when the business changed to Dodd & Reed Funeral Home.

She enjoyed traveling overseas and state side with her husband and grandchildren, and especially enjoyed spending time with the grandchildren at the beach. Caroline was a very competitive scrabble player. Reading historic fiction and WV murder mystery books was her pleasure.

KITTY KORNER:

Affordable, Adoptable, Fixed Feline Friends

Just One Generation cat rescue was started in 2013 in response to the severe feline overpopulation in this area. Our initial emphasis was on the Trap, Neuter, and Release (TNR) of feral cats as well as to facilitate the spay/neuter of domestic cats. Adoption of ownerless cats and kittens came later, as was incorporated with the program because there was no place else for these animals to go. But, due to previously made travel plans and family commitments, Just One Generation will NOT be available to take in new animals or to adopt cats and kittens during the months of June, July, and August 2022. Our spay/neuter assistance program will continue during this time. If you have thoughtfully considered pet ownership, NOW may be the time to add a feline friend to your family. Our program currently has multiple healthy, social cats and kittens that are available for a modest adoption fee, that includes immunizations, deworming, flea protection, as well as spay/neuter and rabies vaccine when the kittens are four months old. Featured today are several of our kittens that were either too young or too small to leave on last week's rescue run. Our usual adoption fee has been reduced to $40 each of two for $65, which includes the spay/neuter/rabies vaccine at Central WV Animal Hospital in Gassaway when they are 4 months old. Additional photos of these and other available cats and kittens can be seen on petfinder.com by entering a search for CATS at location 26623 or on the Just One Generation Facebook page. Contact Sally Stewart. as 304-364-4136 to arrange a visit or for additional information.

Dog Tails: Adoptable Dogs at the Braxton County Animal Shelter

Are you looking to add a four legged, tail wagging member to your family? Rescues from the Braxton County Animal Shelter are looking for their final "Forever" homes and are anxious to meet you.

There is a reason we call them man's best friend. We can learn so many things from a dog's behavior, personality, demeanor, resiliency, and most importantly, the willingness to provide their family members with unconditional love, loyalty, and companionship down to their very last breath. BCAS is open Monday through Friday from 10-3.

There is no charge to surrender a dog, but donations toward their care are appreciated. Adoptions are $99.00 for male dogs and $119.00 for female dogs, and include spay/neuter, rabies vaccination, parvo/distemper vaccination, kennel cough vaccination, flea treatment and deworming. No dog will leave the shelter unfixed and we are very willing to work with reputable 501c3 rescues.

Please call the shelter for vet pricing and ask for our adoption/rescue coordinator Megan at (304)765-2200

The Braxton County Animal Shelter has three, twelve week old Chi mix puppies available for adoption. These are Princess's babies and we have one female and two males. These puppies must be spayed/neutered before they can leave the shelter. They will be adopted in person with an adoption fee deposit by cash or check. The BCAS will work on a first come first serve basis and there will be no holds. If you would like to meet them stop by the shelter during business hours.

Shasta is a twelve to fourteen week old female Boxer. She is a sweet little girl with lots of playful puppy energy and loves all the attention she can get. She is dog friendly. We don't believe she is house trained yet and hasn't walked on a leash yet, but she is smart and eager to learn.

Molly is a five month old female Blue Heeler/Beagle mix. Molly is crate trained and has lived indoors before but still needs some work with house training as she has had accidents when no one is home. She has been around small children and other dogs but does not do well with chickens! Molly loves toys and playing with other dogs. This girl is very sweet and would make an excellent family companion.

Rowdy and Rascal These sweet boys are litter mates who are now ten months old. Their momma is a Great Dane and we can't be sure the breed of the father of this litter. They have lived mainly outdoors and were very timid when they came to the shelter but they are warming up to our staff quickly. These guys have been around children and are very gentle, do not jump up at all. They are also dog social and have been around chickens and rabbits as well. They love a good game of tug with a rope or toy.

Meet Josie, She is a four year old female Black and Tan who came to our shelter as a stray from the Burnsville city limits area. We believe she has only ever lived outdoors. She walks excellent on a leash and is in great physical health. She has dog tested great here in the shelter and is a very gentle personality. We think she would be good with children bc she does not jump up and is very laid back. Josie does have that hound dog howl but we don't hear it often.

Phoenix was found on a farm as a stray in a hay field and the land owner took her home for a week. He brought her to us because he could not keep her, and he paid her adoption fee for her future adopter. We know that Phoenix is friendly with other dogs but hasn't been around kids or any other animals while he/we have had her. She walks well on a leash. We're guessing her to be one to two years old weighing about forty pounds. Phoenix loves all the butt scratches and attention she can get. She gravitates more to people than dogs so we call her a "people dog". When she gets really happy she gets low to the ground with her front legs stretched out and bounces.

Meet Blue. He's a seven month old male Catahoula Leopard/Cur mix who weighs approx 60lbs. He was surrendered and is now looking for a family to call his own! Blue has lived inside and out but is not completely housebroke. Blue does not jump up and is not super energetic like a puppy but he has been known to chew. He was gentle with children he has lived with other dogs of various breeds and sizes and is very dog social. He has also been around cats, birds and horses. Blue has a very sweet, eager to please disposition.

Braxton Co. Animal Shelter has been given the opportunity to provide five free dog spay surgery vouchers per month, to low-income Braxton County families. (One per household) These vouchers may be obtained by completing a Spay Assistance Application, which can be picked up and submitted at the animal shelter during business hours. Vouchers will be good for 30 days. BCAS reserves the right to deny financial assistance for any reason.

These free spay surgeries must be scheduled by the voucher recipient at Central WV Animal Hospital.

The teaching and study of health is a very active part of most Seventh-day Adventist churches, services, schools, studies, programs and wellness activities. We have not had much of that for the last two or three years in our church, partly because of Covid. It was rather disappointing to my daughter and me that Loma Linda, our Adventist medical university in California, didn't put out more guidelines and articles to help guide us through these times. At least some encouragement to wear masks and get vaccinated was scattered about, but nothing really pressing the importance of these things as much as we would have liked. It is my opinion that the devil, that created-angel-who-rebelled-against-God-early-on, got so out-of-hand that he and his legions of angels-become-demons who were cast out of Heaven with him and ultimately confined to the planet Earth to await their final destruction, who is now going about as a roaring lion seeking whom he will devour, was instrumental in creating the viruses and diseases that plague us. I also believe that God works with His people (those who believe in Him and His goodness) and helps them develop remedies and vaccinations that help us in our battle against things like Covid and Monkeypox.

Here is a beautiful hymn that came to Robin's mind as she thought about all of this:

THE GREAT PHYSICIAN NOW IS NEAR

Caught Red Handed

A doe stands on her hind feet to reach apples.

By: Jeanette Riffle

I have been writing about all the critters that have been coming to our big apple tree and this is the biggest one yet. Hubby was having trouble with the old tractor. It wouldn't start. He went out to check it again and the dog followed him. All of a sudden Rascal started barking and was looking towards the apple tree. There stood a big doe standing on her hind feet so she could reach up and get at the apples.

I saw them do that in the front yard over at Dad's one time. He had me go out and run the deer off and pick up the apples that had fallen to the ground. Those deer were actually shaking the tree to make apples fall. Dad wanted me to wash, peel, chop and cook him some applesauce. By the way, the problem with the old

1 The Great Physician now is near,
The sympathizing Jesus;
He speaks the drooping heart to cheer,
Oh, hear the voice of Jesus!
Sweetest note in seraph song;
Sweetest name on mortal tongue;
Sweetest carol ever sung:
Jesus, blessed Jesus!
2 Your many sins are all forgiv'n,
Oh, hear the voice of Jesus;
The veil 'twixt you and God is riven,
Redemption wrought by Jesus.
3 All glory to the dying Lamb!
I now believe in Jesus;
I love the blessed Saviour's name,
I love the name of Jesus.
4 His name dispels my guilt and fear,
No other name but Jesus;
Oh, how my soul delights to hear
The precious name of Jesus!
Maranatha

tractor was a vapor lock and it started when it cooled off.

We are running the robot vacuum cleaner and I came to my chair to get out of the way. We have company coming tomorrow and we are cleaning house. I have enjoyed seeing what my relatives and friends did over the 4th. The pictures and stories go through my news feed on FB. We just enjoyed watching fire works from across the country, on big screen TV and we fixed good meals. When our son called home, I asked him what they did and he said they just went in the backyard and looked up at the sky. There were fire works everywhere. It is like that in the suburbs of Detroit. I will wrap this up for this time and get busy. People are traveling and going to beaches and visiting relatives. It's that time of year. Pray for safe travels.

Until next time everyone take care and God bless!

Your Place

By: Joseph J. Mazzella
Summer brings a literal explosion of LIFE here in the mountains of my home. The forested hillsides become an ocean of green leaves. In the meadows and along the roadsides you see buttercups, dandelions, sweet clover, daisies, black eyed Susans and Queen Anne's Lace. Butterflies and bumblebees dance above them. In the trees dozens of species of birds are singing love songs, building nests, and raising babies. You can just feel the LIFE in the air each time you go outside. Just last evening as I took my dogs out for their last walk of the day I saw: a majestic hawk flying beneath the pink clouds caused by the setting sun, a thousand fireflies blinking their lights in the meadow behind my house, a squirrel scurrying up a tree with a nut in its mouth, a bunny rabbit hopping home from a day of nibbling grass, a deer coming out of the woods for a last meal in the meadow before it got dark, and my daughter's adopted stray cat, "Alice" laying down for her nineteenth nap of the day. As I looked at it all I felt a peace, contentment, and joy in my heart and I found it fitting that my home state's nickname is "Almost Heaven." I also felt a great desire welling up in me to take my place in all of this Life. I wanted to live. I wanted to learn. I wanted to shine my light. I wanted to share my love. I wanted to do good. I wanted to be kind. I wanted to help others. I wanted to make this beautiful, blessed world even better with the life I lived. I looked around one last time and thanked God for letting me be a part of this wonderful world and this sacred life. God created this glorious universe and this beautiful planet for us to live, to learn, and to love in. Don't hide from it. Take your place in it instead. Live with purpose. Share your love. Shine your light. Let your sacred soul become one with this sacred life.

The Williams Farm

By Larry Knight
The homestead on Chop Fork a tributary of Knowls Creek. In the old picture bottom left is the Jim Williams log house. Jim's grandson once told me that he could remember a stone above the mantle that had the date carved in it 1829. A cozy homeplace to say the least. The farm was mostly self supporting in them days. To the right of the house was the chicken house, to the right of the chicken house was the hog house, then the apple tree and last was the big garden. Mostly in the big garden veggies were grown, along with field corn for the livestock. A special field corn was usually grown for corn meal. The usual animals on a farm were a team of horses, at least (2) cows, a couple of calves, a pair of hogs for pork chops and sausage. Sheep was a must for the wool to use in clothing or to sell. Chickens were a common item too along with a flock of turkeys that would be the farm variety. Back to the picture center right would have been the log barn, then another apple tree then the corn house or grainery. The creek flowed past just over the roof of the house past the barn doing a 90 degree turn then flowing on down the valley. The local county road wound along up the holler past the cornhouse and barn crossing the creek up past the apple tree. Just across the road from the apple tree was a willow cup. This was to help quinch the thirst of a rock ledge. On a hot summer day the water was oh so cold. The (2) ladies in the picture I do not recognize. The picture shows our past when people were friendly toward one another. A persons problems were usually simple but could be a problem to be dealt with just the same, Mr. Jim Williams I suppose lived his entire 80+ years on the farm. Jims father most likely built up the farm. Jim married a lady by the name of Sara Cayton. She was a member of the Cayton clan that had settled on the chop fork drainage of Knowls Creek. The Corps of Engineers about 50yrs ago purchased this property for the Burnsville dam project Charlie the only son of Jim Williams was the last to leave the area. Charley died in bed the last person that occupied Chop Fork.

First frame for those panels

Panels we built in the field

Like everybody else, we have to make decisions every day, some are easy, like what to make for lunch, what kind of clothes to wear to keep cool, things with little consequences. Then there are the harder ones, weather related, like when to cut hay to get it in dry and of good quality. Occasionally, we face incidents that demand searching for a resolution, that require more time and possibly financial involvement for decision making. In 2012 we had two storms, Derecho in the summer and Sandy in the fall, both causing extensive damage to our woods, requiring substantial clean-up for weeks. Both times we were without electricity for a long time. We were not as dependent on electricity when we first moved here, but over the years we built a business and relied heavily on refrigeration. We used to keep canned food safe in the root cellar, but now we have added 3 freezers where we keep frozen meat and vegetables that we like better frozen than canned. We had purchased a generator that runs on the tractor. We spent around $1200.00 for running it in 2012 after the storms. We were also dependent on friends, Martha and Jim to bring in diesel, since our driveway and the county road were impassible, who together with Melanie, all the way from Va. helped clean up the worst of the mess.. That's when the idea of electrification of our farm started. I want to point out that it is a long process and in our case it had to do with how to deal with power interruptions. It will have to be eventually implemented state, country and worldwide, not because of power outages, but because of climate change, to save our planet for our kids and all the life on it. Climate change is a fact and there are dire warnings of changing our CO2 emissions while we still have time. The changes on our farm will give an indication that transition does not happen over night.

Here is how we started. We contacted a solar installer and asked for advice. He offered to come out to our place to assess the situation.

Bill Anderson, owner of Milestone Solar, proved to be an expert and very helpful. He and his team installed our first solar panels on the roof of our house in the fall of 2012, while we were still cleaning up from storm damages. It was a tricky job, since the connection to the grid, the meter box, was up at the cheese building, 200' distance. So proper breakers had to be installed. The whole system is connected to a battery storage. Now, when the electricity goes out, we do not even noticed it.

The whole thing switches over automatically to the batteries. When ever the sun comes up, the batteries are recharged first. We can watch the procedure on the computer. We also can monitor each individual panel output.

Next we wanted more security, so we installed free-standing solar panels by ourselves in 2014. They are not connected to the batteries.

They all have individual micro-inverters. It is now 10 years since we have not paid any electric bill, except the basic charge, $5.00 a month.

We do not get paid for extra electricity we produce, but we are given credit for it, in case we ever need it. The panels on the roof are fixed, the ones outside in the field we can raise in the winter and lower in the summer to get the most of the angle of the sun.

We had to make a decision of replacing our car. in 2018. We use a GM credit card where we can gain points toward the purchase of a new GM vehicle. We had a credit of $3500.00. We contemplated to make the move towards an EV car. With the fore-mentioned credit, a $ 7500.00 tax break that could be extended over years and adding the trade-in for the old car made it financially possible to buy a BOLT, cheaper than a gas powered car. When problems with batteries in some Bolts (we never had a problem) emerged, GM offered to replace them, adding extra miles storage with the new ones. I love to drive it. We can put it in one drive that slows down the car when we remove the foot from the accelerator, it is a safety feature as well as a mode to recharge the battery on the road. The first solar installation came with a car charging unit, so we mostly charge the car at home. It can also be plugged into a 120 outlet, but it takes much longer. The Bolt has a 260 mile range.

At the beginning of

May in 2020 Greg fell from ladder, got his arm caught on a 2x6 and suffered from a dislocated shoulder. He had his arm in a sling and tied to his body because he was told any ,even a slight movement could yank out the shoulder again. It was a challenging summer on the farm with Greg not being able to do his part. It took till the beginning of September for him to do light work again, like putting up hay. He could drive a tractor but hooking up machinery was a challenge.

Another decision had to be made to stay independent. I am getting to an age when cutting 10 truck loads of firewood, loading, unloading and stacking became daunting. Greg was able by then to do his part, but what if something else happened before we were finished? We had a heat pump installed (mini-split) to have a back-up heat source in the living room and in the bedroom, just in case everything went South. We use it rarely in winter, just in the morning at the start of the colder season to warm up the living room a little. We also needed to find out if the unit would put out heat when the temperatures outside were very low. So far we tested it at 3 degrees and it worked perfectly. It uses very little energy and remember, all our use is drawn from the solar installation.

In the summer we use it as air conditioning. We can set a desired temperature and it will maintain it and circulate it around via a built-in fan. Of course we still use firewood in our stoves in winter, but now we cut it with electric saws, which we bought, when the our Stihl gas saws needed replacing. We did the same thing when we had to replace weed eaters. We find these electric power tools safer. They turn off when I release the trigger and the chain stops running.

The most recent electrification module is our induction stove top. No more gas leaks. It took me a little time to get used to it, but it is very efficient. It uses only magnetic pots, but if we use regular cook-ware we can put a diffuser plate (it is magnetic) underneath.

Now, I am just waiting for some gadget that can electrify my legs and my brain and I think and we will be set!

We have to take steps to electrify our world to keep us from the damages of global warming. It is not just solar or wind energy, but there are so many options today and more seem to be propping up, like geothermal, heat pumps, "green" hydrogen, catching methane just to name a few. I have to admit we did not install solar panels for climate related issues, but rather to have a reliable source of energy. Once it was established, steps could be taken to further reduce our personal CO2 emissions and it lead to a realization of how each of us can contribute in infinitely, small ways to make the air cleaner. Small steps taken in a decade.

Free Cybersecurity Workforce Training Coming to Glenville State University

Glenville State University will be offering free cybersecurity training as a part of the Cybersecurity and Safety Workforce Development Initiative. The Initiative aims to create a more vibrant economic future for the coal-impacted North Central region of West Virginia.

The training will lead to certifications and national industry-recognized credentials for high paying and in-demand jobs.

"There is no better time than now to get certifications in cybersecurity. Job demand for employees with cybersecurity skills, in West Virginia and the United States, has seen a precipitous climb in recent years and is expected to continue this trend for many years to come. With the development of these free boot camps that provide each participant with all training materials and exams at no cost to the participant, central West Virginia residents have a unique opportunity to receive training and eventual certification in cybersecurity-related fields at little to no cost," said Tim Henline, Project Director for the Cybersecurity and Safety Workforce Development Initiative.

All necessary materials and certification exams will be provided at no cost in addition to the training. Classes do not require any prior coding or cybersecurity training and will take place over the course of three to five days. Day, night, and weekend classes will be offered to accommodate a variety of schedules.

Training courses will consist of a three- to five-day weekday or weekend boot camp where an instructor guides and trains students to receive industry-recognized certification in a cybersecurity-related field. Current base level certifications ongoing are CompTIA A+ and CompTIA Network+ with higher-level cybersecurity certification training planned in the coming months.

For more information about the courses or to be added to the waitlist, contact Henline by email at Timothy.Henline@glenville.edu or by phone at (304) 462-6119. You may also register for upcoming courses by visiting <https://workforce.glenville.edu/>.

This project was developed collaboratively with many diverse stakeholders and made possible by the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) POWER Initiative Grant. To learn more about ARC's POWER Initiative, visit <https://www.arc.gov/arcs-power-initiative/>.

A total of $1,402,408 in local and federal funding is being provided for the project, 80% of which, ($1,120,995) comes from the Appalachian Regional Commission while 20% ($281,413) comes from the Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation and Glenville State University.
