

A large portion of the $50,000 to $75,000 cargo was scattered around the crash scene of a Loomis truck.

Money everywhere: not a penny for the taking...

A Loomis Armored transport vehicle left quite a mess when the driver apparently fell asleep and went between the north and south bridges just north of the I-79 interchange last Monday. In fact, the accident left tons of loose change scattered over a very large area. However, local law enforcement agencies were on hand quickly to ensure that the cargo remained at the scene.

The accident occurred just after 4:00 p.m. when the tractor-trailer truck, left the interstate while traveling south, went between the two bridges and crashed into the railroad grade below. The Burnsville Volunteer Fire Department and Braxton EMS both responded to the scene where the driver, and lone occupant of the vehicle miraculously escaped serious injury.

According to investigating officer, CPL Cleve Westfall of the Braxton County Sheriff's Department, the large truck was transporting between $50,000 and $75,000 in change to Loomis headquarters in Charleston. The coins were in large medal containers in the trailer but the weight and impact the vehicle sustained during the collision caused the container to burst through the container and spill on the surrounding ground.

CPL Westfall, Deputy B. Pickens and members of the Sutton Detachment of the West Virginia State Police remained on scene for over three hours to secure the cash until armed guards from Loomis arrived on scene for clean-up. The money was transferred to another Loomis vehicle for transport.

Hess, Alley, Stewart and Harris sentenced to prison; others have day in Circuit Court Numerous court orders were recently completed by the Honorable Richard A. Facemire in the Braxton County Circuit Court. Braxton County Prosecuting Attorney Jasmine R.H. Morton represented the state of West Virginia. Tyler Morlan, Jacob Foster, and Deandre Williams from the Braxton County Probation Office were available for several of the hearings.

Following recent proceedings before Judge Facemire four individuals are headed to prison. Wallace Lee Hess and attorney David Karickhoff appeared in court for a sentencing hearing. The defense moved for some type of alternative sentence and the state stood silent per the plea agreement. The court found Hess in need of correctional treatment and denied the motion. The defendant was sentenced to one to ten years on the grand larceny charge and five years for escape.

Tyler Brooks Alley came before Judge Facemire for his sentencing hearing on the felony charge of conspiracy. His attorney Betty Gregory requested the sentence to run concurrent with the one he is currently serving. The state remained silent per the plea agreement. The court noted Alley would likely reoffend if granted an alternative sentence and therefor denied the motion. He was sentenced to one to five years in prison.

Harold Stewart and his attorney Kevin Hughart came to court for his sentencing hearing. The defense noted he had gotten married since the case began and has a potential treatment program if granted an alternative sentence. The state remained silent with regard to a recommendation for sentencing per the plea agreement. The court believed granting an alternative sentence would depreciate the seriousness of the offense and he would likely reoffend. Based on his prior criminal history, sporadic employment history, and his substance abuse problem the motion was denied. Stewart was sentenced to one to five years for the felony offense of sexual abuse in the first degree.

Ryan Wesley Harris appeared in court with his attorney David Karickhoff for a sentencing hearing. The defense moved for an alternative sentence with the state staying silent per the plea agreement. Judge Facemire denied the motion noting his prior criminal record, sporadic work history, and his substance abuse problem. On felony offense of burglary, the defendant was sentenced to one to fifteen years.

On January 10, Richard Cory Barker and his attorney Timothy Gentilozzi came before Judge Facemire for further sentencing as he has completed long-term, in-patient treatment. The defense noted he would be a good candidate for an alternative sentence he has completed treatment and has gotten employment. The state did not object with the placement on probation. The one to five years sentence for delivery of oxycodone was suspended and Barker was placed on five years of probation.

Kelly Lynn Hughes and her attorney Bernard Mauser appeared in court for probation revocation hearing. The defendant admitted to the allegations contained in the petition for revocation. Her probation was therefore revoked by Judge Facemire. The defense requested she be re-admitted to the pro-

The Lady Knights defense works hard to keep their opponents from scoring.

Lady Knights lose to Clay and South Harrison, beat Spencer

By Shirley Shuman

After losing two games early last week, the BCMS girls came back to end the week with a win. Clay outscored Braxton 35-27 on Monday. In that game, the Lady Knights led 14-12 at halftime, but Clay outscored them by 10 in the second half for the win. Bailey Pritt led Braxton with 15 points. Discussing the Lady Knights' 35-34 loss to South Harrison the following night, Coach Matt Pritt explained that his team "had no energy and got down early." Pritt added, "We outscored South Harrison in the second, third and fourth quarters." He also referred to his team's being out-rebounded as another reason for the loss. Pritt led Braxton's scoring, this time with 13. Thursday's 35-18 win over Spencer came with "good team effort and better rebounding." He added, "We shot the ball better, too."

Lila Fitzwater brings the ball back to Lady Knights territory.

Knights lose close game to South Harrison, beat Spencer

By Shirley Shuman

South Harrison edged the Braxton Knights 45-43 last Tuesday at South Harrison. Knights' coach Randall Brown called the contest "a great game played by both teams." Coach Brown noted, "South Harrison jumped out on us early, but we managed to make a huge run in the third to tie the game up. In the fourth quarter it was a back-to-back scoring battle, but unfortunately we came up short in the end."

The coach continued to explain that his team "had a couple of players batting injuries and illness and that took a huge toll on us." He also commented that the Knights caused turnovers throughout the game but were not able to capitalize on them. "We played a well-coached team that was able to defend us well," he added. Aidan Crockett scored 20 points to lead Braxton scoring in the loss. Playing at Spencer Thursday, the Knights made a complete turnaround with a 68-30 win. Of that game, Coach Brown said that after losing to South Harrison, "the Knights came out with a fire in them that we hadn't seen all year. We continuously pressured Spencer and were able to cause and capitalize off turnovers." He continued to say that Crockett "stepped up on both sides of the ball and really showed that he could lead this team." He added, Jamie Nettles dominated the rebounding game and played amazing defense underneath the rim." The coach was pleased to see that his squad "played unselfish basketball and really showed what a team is supposed to look like."

Walk the ice trapping

By: Jeanette Riffle

My husband remembers a winter when the ice was so thick on Steer Creek at Shock, that you were safe to walk on it. His buddy, Floyd Mace, was trapping for muskrats to sell the hides and he walked the creek on ice, clear from his place to the Shock log cabin. He lived with his mother, Stella Mace, across the swinging bridge on Rosedale Rd. , which was about two miles up the road from where our place at Shock is now. He was a big, heavy- set man, but he didn't break through the ice. That is the only winter Duane remembers of ice being that thick all the way up the creek. This conversation came about when I wrote about my brothers coming off Chestnut Lick Hill on a sled and onto the iced over creek that ran under the bridge.

Floyd taught Duane a lot about the outdoors. He took him trapping, hunting and fishing. He taught him how to shoot a gun and Uncle

Ralph noticed that he was getting pretty good at that. My Dad and one of his brothers taught us kids how to shoot a gun. The foxes were getting rabies and we had that scare to watch out for. They ran the hill behind our house barking and sometimes came right down to the house. They were almost as thick as coyotes are today. Dad told us that if we saw a fox, to not wait to see if it was foaming at the mouth. Go ahead and shoot it. Two of my brothers and I went after the milk cow every evening and we had to watch out for foxes. I don't remember seeing one but one of my brothers said he had to club one in latter years when he was alone out in the pasture field. I think I had already left home and was married at that time because I can't remember that happening. I heard of another incident where a fox was brave enough to come right in on the front porch. Dad was there and he shot it. There is a fox den on the hill across from us and we have seen a pretty red fox. There was a gray fox up in the apple tree last fall. I didn't know they could climb trees until that happened.

It was very cold when we got up this morning and it has spit snow off and on, all day long. 53 brave souls made it out to Rosedale Baptist Church this morning. What a drastic change in weather overnight. We went from sunny spring like temperatures back to winter, again. It goes right to the bones and makes arthritis hurt worse. Some folks are seeing robins. They will wish they had overcoats, and if the frogs start hollering in the ditch across the road as soon as they did last year, they will be peeping through glass. I got a nice valentine and some red roses two days early.

Happy Valentine's Day, everyone. Until next time, stay safe and stay well. Take care and God bless!

DHHR extends application period for Low Income Energy Assistance Program

The West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) has extended the application period for the Low-Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP) until Friday, March 18, 2022, or until funds are exhausted. The federally funded program assists eligible state residents in paying home heating bills.

Eligibility for LIEAP benefits is based on income, household size and whether the household is responsible for paying its heating bill. To qualify, households must meet all program guidelines, which includes an applicant's annual income being at or below 60 percent of the state median income. In situations where a heating emergency exists, applicants must contact a DHHR worker for case evaluation. The maximum allowable gross income levels for LIEAP Fiscal Year 2022 are listed below:

Household Size	Gross Monthly Income Limit
1 - 2	$2,005 - $2,621
3 - 4	$3,238 - $3,855
5 - 6	$4,472 - $5,088
7 - 8	$5,204 - $5,583
9 - 10	$6,150 - $6,718

For each additional person, add $567. Households whose income exceeds the maximum amount are not eligible; however, some types of income may be excluded for LIEAP. Social Security and Veterans income will be excluded for the current LIEAP application period.

Applications are available online at www.wv-path.org and may also be obtained at local DHHR offices, Community Action Agencies, or senior centers operated by an Area Agency on Aging.

Completed applications should be delivered or mailed to the DHHR office located in the applicant's county of residence. A list of local offices may be found at <https://dhhr.wv.gov/bcf/Pages/MapList.aspx> or by calling 304-352-4431. Mailing the application to any other office or to a utility company may delay the receipt by DHHR and prohibit processing the application.

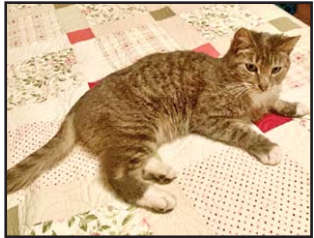

Just One Generation Cat Rescue Kitty Korner adoptable cats

Just One Generation cat rescue was formed in 2013 to help address the severe feline overpopulation problem in our area. Spay/neuter/rabies is included with our modest adoption fee of $35, and older kittens and cats may already be done at the time of placement. This week we feature a few residents in our program who are currently looking for homes. More adoptable animals can be viewed on petfinder.com by entering a search for CATS at location 26623, or by
